Course content	This exchange package offers the international exchange student a great selection of (English spoken) classes from the 2nd and 3rd year of our Pop program.  During weekly individual sessions the focus will be on the main instrument: apart from drums, bass guitar, guitar, piano/keys and vocals, we also offer a pop education for brass (trumpet, trombone, and saxophone).  There are also several ensemble classes per instrument.  Furthermore there will be several band projects with varying themes/assignments, studio sessions, and live performances inside and outside of school.  Other classes include Improvisation, Songwriting, Digital Audio, Piano Workshop, and a strong emphasis on Entrepreneurship  We organize an International Writers Camp in the fall and a national edition in the spring.

Learning outcomes	The learning outcomes revolve around enhancement of the development and inspiration with regards to the professional profiles as described below:
	Artist/Performer  You build your career through your own repertoire, written by you or a third party. Visibility in the live scene and (social) media attributes to your fame and reputation in order to reach the biggest possible audience. You operate as an independent entrepreneur and establish agreements with parties in the music industry that can offer you their specific services such as labels, publishers, managers and agents. You hire musicians and crew members to support you on stage or in the studio. You mainly generate your income through the three pillars for an artist/performer: live revenue, album sales and royalties.

COURSE GUIDE 2022-2023

	Session Musician
	You are a professional all-round musician who is deployable in many different ways, both in the studio as well as in a live music environment. You master a great diversity of genres, can switch rapidly between these, and you are fast at studying music and performing it according to the specific wishes of a client.
	You have a broad network of studios, labels, publishers, managers, artists and fellow session musicians. As an independent entrepreneur you generate your income for the most part through being hired by a variety of clients as well as through your related rights.
	Songwriter/Composer
	You are very skilled at writing music and lyrics. You are outwardly oriented and know what is going on in the market. You perform your own compositions but just as well might sell them to third parties through a publisher or by commission. You function as an independent entrepreneur, earning your money through assignments as well as royalties.
